SPRING 2025: PROGRAM OFFERINGS

Career Development & Communication Foundations
In person

Monday and Wednesday
6:00pm-9:30pm
April 7 - June 27

These workshops will allow participants to explore career pathways aligned with their interests and experiences. Participants will investigate labor market trends, credentialing processes, and professional registration requirements within their chosen fields. Through industry-specific communication training, they will refine their reading, writing, and research skills, while applying critical thinking and problem-solving to create impactful professional documents.

Advanced Communication Skills for the Workplace & Exploring Small Business and Entrepreneurship
In person/Online via Zoom

Tuesday in person and Thursday online
9:30am-1:00pm
April 7 - June 27

This two-part workshop equips participants with essential speaking skills for effective workplace communication, with a focus on high-stakes situations such as negotiations and performance reviews. Participants will refine their presentation skills by presenting their business plan concepts using effective business communication strategies.

OSLT Healthcare
Online via Zoom

Tuesday and Thursday
6:30pm-9:15pm
April 7 - July 19

The "Workplace Communication Skills for Health Care" course, delivered in a blended format of virtual or in-person classes and online activities over 180 hours (typically 10-18 weeks), equips you with practical skills to navigate health care workplaces in Ontario, such as hospitals, clinics, and nursing homes. You'll learn to communicate effectively with colleagues, clients, and supervisors, network with local employers and industry associations, and apply your training in various health care settings.
